LOCAL NURSE MEETS MEMBERS OF 319TH INF. IN HOSPITAL

Miss Margaret Artzman Writes Interestingly of Trip Across Atlantic and Work in France.

In letters to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Artzman of South Connellsville, Miss Margaret Artzman, who is with the Army Nurse Corps, Replacement Unit, Group C, tells of her experiences until October 10, the date of her last letter. Miss Artzman says:

"We traveled first class on board ship and were treated fine, and had all possible conveniences. We were on the water three weeks and landed in England on September 21. After crossing the channel we went to Paris and then traveled south along the Seine river to Chaumont and there stayed at the Roosevelt hospital, which was our general headquarters some time ago. Finding that our hospital had moved on we followed and stopped again at Rheims and from there went to Evacuation Hospital No. 11, where we expect to stay for some time."

"The hospital was taken over from the French. The nurses sleep in tents. It is very comfortable except that it rains every day and there are no floors. The boys certainly appreciate everything we do and cannot be nice enough to us. Have met several boys from Greensburg, Scotland and Mount Pleasant. Dr. L. J. C. Bailey from Greensburg is a major here but I have not seen him yet. We get boys here from the 319th who are in active service, and meet a boy who knows Walter and was speaking to him yesterday. (Walter is Miss Artzman's brother and a member of the 319th Heavy Field Artillery.)

"I am on duty at present and there are 60 patients in my ward. We have operating tables going all the time. I do not know how long we will be here for we keep moving with the troops. At present we are six miles from a railroad but see a steady stream of troops and supplies passing day and night. I am glad to have a chance for them to be farther from the front and stay in one place, while we travel continually.

"Don't worry about me for we are treated grand and would not miss this for the world."

Before going over Miss Artzman was stationed at Camp Shelby, Hattiesburg, Miss., for four months.

Republican Success Depends Upon Republican Voters

The polls do not close until 7 o'clock this evening. If you have been engaged earlier in the day, or have neglected the important duty of voting, or if you know of another Republican who has done the same, you still have time in which to redeem yourself in the eyes of all good citizens.

Success of the Republican cause depends today upon how faithful Republicans are in the discharge of their duty by GETTING OUT THE VOTE AND VOTING THE STRAIGHT TICKET. Responsibility for defeat rests upon you if you fail in these things. Stay-at-home votes and split tickets count for Democratic, not Republican, success.

SOLDIER EXPOSED IN SEA 18 HOURS WHEN SHIP SINKS

Allen Evans, Cousin of J. L. Evans of This City, Is One of 28 Out of 500 Saved.

HUN SHELLS LIFEBOATS

German Submarine Sinks Disabled Ship Carrying Machine Shop and Then Turns Fire on Survivors; Evans Rescued by British Ship.

After his ship had been torpedoed and the life boats sunk by a German submarine, Allen Evans, a cousin of J. L. Evans of this city, and formerly a resident of the South Side, floated about in the water for 18 hours, finally being picked up by a British ship and taken to Brest, France, where he was in the hospital many weeks before he recovered. He is now in this country at a hospital in Newport News, Va.

He was in this city, Tenn., on his way to France to spend a short furlough with a friend. Evans had enlisted in the army as a mechanic and was going to France as a tool maker. He was aboard a ship carrying 13 miles of steel rails, 10 locomotives and a complete machine shop. The ship became disabled and dropped back, resulting in the torpedoing. There were 500 men on board and there were loaded in lifeboats. The ship sank quickly with its heavy load.

The German U-boat, not satisfied with having sunk the ship, turned a shell fire on the lifeboats and sunk them. The boat carrying Evans sank and he was left in the water, supported by a life belt. The torpedoing occurred about 4 o'clock in the morning and Evans remained conscious until about dusk. After that he remembered nothing until he regained consciousness on his way to France in the British ship. He says only about 28 men out of 500 were saved.

The torpedoing occurred in March and the cold water and exposure wrecked the nerves of the soldier. For many days he lay in a hospital in France unable to walk. He began to get the use of his legs by crawling about. When he recovered sufficiently he was returned to a hospital in this country. He is slowly recovering and although he is physically wrecked, he has the appearance of a person in excellent health.

A brother, Homer Evans, is thought to have been killed in the fighting in France. No word of his death had been received here however. Allen Evans, hearing his brother had enlisted, sought to get some information concerning him through Washington and learned that he had been killed on March 23.

Both soldiers are known to many persons in this city, having lived several years on the South Side.

DRASTIC CONDITIONS FOR A CESSATION OF HOSTILITIES IMPOSED BY ALLIED COUNCIL

Complete Demobilization of Army, Surrender of Half of All Military Equipment, Occupation by Allies of Strategic Positions, Use of Railroads, Surrender of Fleet and the Armament of the Remainder are Part of Them.

AMOUNTS TO AN UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Terms of armistice under which the land and sea forces of what once was the Austro-Hungarian empire have laid down their arms were announced today simultaneously in Washington and the Allied capitals. They accomplish complete surrender and open Austrian and Hungarian territory for American and Allied operations against Germany.

From this drastic document it may be stated may be gleaned an accurate outline of the conditions bearing completion in the supreme war council at Versailles under which Germany may have a cessation of hostilities.

The terms under which the debacle on the Italian front ended today at 2 P. M. (9 A. M. Eastern United States time) include the complete demobilization of Austrian forces, surrender of one-half of all artillery and military equipment, occupation by American and Allied forces of such strategic places as may later be selected, use of Austrian railroads for operation against Germany, evacuation of all invaded territory leaving behind all equipment and supplies, including coal, surrender of a portion of the Austrian surface and submarine fleet and disarmament of others under American and Allied control, surrender of all German submarines in Austrian waters, and repatriation of Allied and American prisoners without reciprocity.

Evacuation of Austrian territory roughly corresponds to the boundary lines claimed by Italy under the Italia-Irredentist treaty of London. The right of occupation by Allied forces is reserved, local authorities to maintain order under Allied supervision.

The terms of the armistice are to be carried out under the direction of Marshal Foch, who will designate material to be turned over and supervise the movement of Austro-Hungarian forces to the rear.

All German troops in Austria-Hungary, Italy or the Balkans must be out or interned within 15 days.

Destruction of any property by retreating forces is specifically forbidden.

Ships to be surrendered include 15 modern Austrian submarines, three battleships, three light cruisers, nine destroyers, 12 torpedo boats, one mine layer and six Danube monitors.

All other warcraft are to be concentrated and disarmed under Allied direction.

Free navigation of all Austrian waters by both war and commercial fleets of the Allies is provided for.

The Danube route is to be kept open by the occupation or dismantling of fortresses to be selected by the Allied commander. The existing blockade of the Allies against Austria remains unchanged, Austrian ships being liable to capture where found except where a commission to be named later provides otherwise.

All enemy naval aircraft are to be put out of commission and concentrated under Allied control. All Austrian harbor and other equipment in occupied Italian ports is to be left untouched.

All fortresses protecting Austrian naval bases or stations are to be occupied and the arsenal at Pola is specifically surrendered. All Allied craft held by Austria are to be returned immediately.

The only organized military force Austria is permitted to retain is limited to that necessary to maintain order in her own borders.

"FLU" BAN TO BE RAISED BY NEXT SATURDAY—ROYER

Acting State Commissioner of Health May Remove Restrictions Thursday.

NEW CASES DECREASING

Some Physicians Are Now Able to Resume Office Practice Which Had to Be Dropped for a Time; Only 25
Patients Now at Emergency Hospital

That the influenza ban on the decline in Connellsville is now plainly evident by the fewer number of new cases that are being reported by physicians and the large number of discharges from the emergency hospital, compared with the few admitted. It is probable that the ban to Fayette county will be lifted not later than Saturday and possibly two days sooner, according to a statement made by Dr. B. Franklin Royer, acting commissioner of the state board of health.

Over Sunday only one new patient was admitted to the emergency hospital being conducted in the Macabees building, and 10 were discharged. Five more patients were discharged this morning. At present about 25 patients are being cared for. This is a great decrease in the number of cases. Mrs. R. S. McKee, superintendent of the emergency hospital, who had been ill last week, has resumed her duties. She was quite ill, but recovered rapidly.

Two more deaths at the hospital were reported over Sunday.

Local physicians report a falling off in the number of new cases and many of those who had been ill are recovering. Some doctors are resuming their office practice, which was abandoned when the number of sick calls to private homes became so great.

The lifting of the influenza ban by Dr. Royer affects only the theatres, public gatherings, and the places for the sale of alcoholic beverages. The removal order does not cover churches, schools and soda fountains, which are under the jurisdiction of local boards of health. When it is deemed advisable for the schools and churches to reopen local boards of health will take action in the matter.

LADIES! SECRET TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Bring Back Its Color and Lustre with Grandma's Sage Tea
Recipe.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients in a large bottle, at little cost, at drug stores, known as "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger. Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

By darkening your hair with Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger. Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

SILL SAYS HE FLIRTED WITH GRAVE A YEAR

Pittsburg Man Frequently Fainted and Had to Be Taken Hospital.

"I'll tell you the truth, if I knew this Tanlac was not going to be sold any more, I would try to buy every bottle on that counter over there before I left here today," said W. J. Sill at the drug store in Pittsburg, Pa., where Tanlac, the celebrated preparation, is being introduced. Mr. Sill, it might be well to mention, lives at 1236 Magnolia street, North Side, and is connected with the New York Dye Works, at 523 Penn Avenue, in this city.

"Before I began taking it," he continued, "I weighed many pounds less than I ever weighed. Today, I got on the scales and tipped them 10 pounds more than I have weighed in 12 months or more! That's exactly what two bottles of Tanlac did for me. Just look at me. I'm filling these trousers rapidly."

"About two years ago I commenced having stomach trouble and it kept getting worse until I began having regular attacks of acute indigestion.
When these attacks came on me, and they were usually accompanied by nauseous spells and dizziness, I would just swell up out of all proportion and become as limp as a rag. My breath would get short and my pulse so weak I was afraid my heart would stop beating. I have become unconscious on the street numerous times and have had to be taken to the hospital. I tell you I was flirting with my grave, and would have been in it if it hadn't been for Tanlac."

Tanlac is now sold in Connelville exclusively by the Connelville Drug Co., Beighley's Pharmacy and F. H.
Harnesing, where the premier preparation can be had.—Adv.

Hixenbaugh of Dunbar, who enlisted is in a hospital at Kent, England, rea letter to his brother, William Hixenbaugh, of South Arch street, he says:

"I will take the pleasure to answer your letter. I hope you are all well, as I am getting along well. Of course, I will never be the same again. They cannot do much for gas. I was gassed on Sunday, September 29. I was in the hardest battles fought by Canadians. We were outnumbered. The Huns had 11 divisions against the Canadians' four. In some places the German dead were so thick we walked on them to get through in the battle of Cambrai. Well, I expect I am out for the duration of the war, by the way things are going now. I am in a hospital in England resting.

and also the local news published herein.WILL GERMANY QUIT WHILE SHE CAN?The publication of the terms of the armistice under which the Austro-Hungarian empire lays down its arms, gives the world a plain intimation of the terms that have also been submitted as the price Germany must pay for the cessation of hostilities preliminary to a peace conference.Having been the principal, rather than the pliant tool and agent as was the action of Austro-Hungary in the war, Germany has very probably been given even more drastic terms. In the case of Austro-Hungary the armistice terms eliminate the Dual Monarchy as a belligerent completely and under such guarantees as will preserve the military supremacy of the Allies. In the case of Germany, the arch offender of them all, it is very probable that even more exacting demands have been made. At any rate the world has the assurance that no point or condition has been overlooked by the Versailles conference that is deemed necessary to preserve all the military advantages gained by the victorious offensive of the Allied armies since the Germans were stopped on their drive toward Paris. If the terms proposed are accepted by Germany, her acceptance will be the equivalent to a complete surrender and compliance with President Wilson's demand that Germany be placed in such a position that she cannot resume hostilities.The interest of the world at large now centers in the reply Germany will make. If, as is believed in some quarters, she will accept the conditions imposed, however hard they may appear to be, the war is over and naught remains but to conclude the terms of a peace which the Allies will dictate.
While Germany must, and perhaps does, realize that a fate similar to that of her ally is inevitable, the doubt exists among some observers of the situation as to whether interior conditions in Germany have become so acute as to force them in authority to surrender as unreservedly as Austro-Hungary, Bulgaria and Turkey have done.In the present civil government at Berlin, it is absolute control of the army and navy, as is asserted, such a surrender may be expected. If the military element is still the dominant factor, refusal to accept the armistice terms and a decision to fight on with the hope of obtaining easier terms of peace, or until finally and decisively crushed and beaten in the field, will not be a surprise.Whatever speculation may be included as to the next development in the situation, the approaching 24 hours will very probably settle the question as to whether Germany will quit while she can or elect to fight until she must quit.

EARLY CHRISTMAS BUYING

The injunction to "Do your Christmas shopping early" will be something new to a merchandising slogan this year. While the object is to have Christmas buying done in advance of the holiday season, largely to relieve sales people of long and tedious hours during the few days immediately preceding Christmas, the request this year is somewhat in the nature of an order.Believing that the avoidance of the usual holiday buying rush and crush will be helpful in furthering the war program, the War Industries Board has made the request that early buying be done as a war measure. The principal reason for this request is the fact that merchants will not be permitted to increase their sales forces during December. Under the existing rules governing employment men and women cannot be taken from essential industry to provide a temporary force for other establishments for the holiday rush as heretofore. Again, the lightest night rules will be in force during the holiday season creating conditions that will make evening shopping very unsatisfactory for both buyers and sellers.The request therefore must be given the same consideration as other measures that have been taken in the interests of the conservation of light, fuel and the energies of the people for the one great purpose of winning the war. Present developments in Europe may be considered by many as so certainly insuring an early peace that further efforts to prosecute our war work with intensity are unnecessary, but we must not forget that peace has not yet come. Even were it to be proclaimed tomorrow conditions will exist which make it imperative that we go forward with certain lines of activity undertaken during the progress of the war without any relaxation whatever. Our Army must be clothed and fed after peace is declared just the same as before. The people of the allied countries will be dependent upon the war food until they can resume cropraising. There will, therefore, be practically no change in conditions insofar as necessity for saving is concerned for a long time after the war has closed. We must continue to meet the situation in the same spirit of willing sacrifice that we have met it thus far, hence every request to do those things that will contribute to that end must be complied with as becomes patriotic citizens.Early Christmas buying is one of the requests and easily to be observed.

THE FARM BUREAU

Fayette county farmers will sincerely regret the departure of Farm Agent Dougherty who goes to a new field of labor as a deserved promotion, in which they wish him well.His services to the farmers of Fayette county have been invaluable. He has given them a new vision of their duties, responsibilities and opportunities and has been directly responsible for having given agriculture and stock raising a new impetus and assisted materially in restoring these activities to their former importance in this section.No farmer who has come within the sphere of the Farm Bureau's influence will refuse to bear willing testimony to the helpfulness of this agency as a means of making the business of farming both more pleasant and more profitable.The work so firmly established by Agent Dougherty will go forward under the direction of a well qualified and experienced successor in the person of Agent Sprengle to whom the farmers of the county will give equally loyal support. They have learned the value of the Farm Bureau, not only in the emergencies of war time but in solving the even more complex farm problems of peace time. They realize, therefore, the advantages to be gained from keeping in close touch with this important source of information on how to farm better, easier and with more profit.In completing the details of the armistice all the Austro-Hungarians had to do was to "Sign Here."The first William of Germany was crowned in Versailles. How fitting is it then that the last of the tribe is having a new head-piece fitted in the same historic place.While in the armistice business why not give one of the "Made in Versailles" kind to the "Flut?"If the German armistice don't provide for the internment of the seven unrestrained sons of it will lack an important stipulation.And the worst is yet to come, Wilhelm.The Pittsburgh "Flut" has violators in a fair way of qualifying for a period of involuntary internment.Looking

Emblems of Death for Toys

By H. H. Windsor in Popular Mechanics.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Several thousand cases of German-made toys arrived here today.—Associated Press.Toys? For whom? For the innocents carried down when the Lusitania sank? For those tear-eyed Belgian children who stretch forth little arms from which the hands were struck off by the swords of German officers? For those French boys and girls with pitifully sightless eyes? For those whose little bodies rest in the churchyards of Italy, that died in pain from poisoned Hun candy? For those other children slowly starved to death in Poland or massacred in Armenia?Toys? Made by Huns to whom innocence and childhood are but toys to be played with and then crushed and broken? Toys whose very contact contaminates and leaves upon the touch of babyhood a deadly stain of blood?
As well bring a deadly serpent into the home to spew its venom on the cradle.
Why shall we befriend and taint the purity of American childhood with a reminder of the Finnish treatment the Huns have gloried in ever since that fateful August of 1914?Can one even look upon a Noah's Ark "Made in Germany" and put from his mind those hundreds of helpless innocents whose silken locks are twined with seaweed? Can one hold a German doll in her arms and forget the thousands dead from famine who once made glad a mother's arms? Can a boy find delight in the contortions of a mechanical Hun clown and forget those brave young men who writhed in agony when crucified on castle walls by these same Huns? Can a ball colored with the red of Huns fail to suggest the flame and bursting grenades hurled by arms uplifted in the attitude of "kamerad?"Let those who would invite fearsome ghosts into the home to hover round the Christmas tree buy German toys. If one would hang the boughs with evil omens, and bid the wall of angelized spirits float through the branches and fan the flickering flame of candles, let him buy German toys. Let those who can make merry with the product of those very hands which even at this moment are eagerly filling shells with poison gases and deadly flames and hurling them against our own flesh and bone.And what of the merchant who for sordid gain would barter these souvenirs of a loathsome nation and insult the loyalty of hisping life? What could delight the cunning Hun, what more quickly bring the speeding snail to cruise faster, or gladden heartless hearts, or encourage him to hope that even now we tolerate his brutality and welcome what he wants to sell?If, now, when as a nation we are in universal condemnation of Hunism, yet do we hold out our hands to accept his works, what will he think and with what measure shall he estimate the sincerity of our expressions of repentance and horror at what he has done since the sun rose this morning?
What realization can we claim in the thought that America was not yet overseen when these trinkets were fashioned? Even while the gaudy paint was yet fresh upon these trinkets were Belgian girls being dragged into slavery worse than death.We do not lack for toys; toys by trainloads made in American factories, by hands which are clean; toys also by carloads made by our ally in Japan, where childhood is sacred, and love, not hate, is taught at mother's breasts.
Even were there none, far better our boys and girls should go without than have pleasure in the handwork of a nation which made a public holiday to celebrate the loss of the Lusitania, and which in these latter days is stepped in the "glory" of its monstrousness.Could our little men who sacrifice, many a childish pleasure to buy war stamps and contribute pennies to the Red Cross, and our little mothers who kiss so patiently with hands that can barely hold the needles, would one of these knowingly find any pleasure in any toy "Made in Germany?"

THE CHANGED PRUSSIAN.

He isn't jolting women off the sidewalks any more.His cheeks are a trifle flatter than it ever been before.There are smiles upon the faces of the humbler folks he's kicked.And the world is melting better now the Prussian knows he's kicked.His head is much deflated since we've brought him to his milk.He isn't loudly bragging, that he's of the royal ilk.He's willing not to listen to what others have to say.And the Prussian isn't strutting in his high and mighty way.He's dodging private soldiers that for years he has abused.He is taking off forever that old clanking sword he's used well and Oh, the time was he imagined all the world to him must bow.But the Prussian's had his lesson and he's very humble now.It's a very different Prussian that men look upon today.Than the one that used to jostle other people from his way.

Do not fear him, little children.

WAS SOMETHING TO DO THE BUSINESS

"I tried everything that I heard of for the stomach and bowel trouble and bloating, but got no permanent help until a struck May's Wonderful Remedy, and that did the business." My son in Canada has also taken it and writes it has done him a lot of good. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and testicular ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. A. A. Clarke and druggists everywhere.—Adv.

SLOUCH HAT OUT OF FAVOR

Picturesque Headgear No Longer Worn by American Soldiers on the Fighting Fronts.

The slouch hat has for many years been regarded in Europe as distinctively American, although for as many years it has been no more commonly worn in the United States than in the British Isles, and over a considerable part of the continent. Nevertheless, the typical American is almost invariably pictured in a soft hat, and the soft felt worn by the soldiers of the American expeditionary forces to France helped to sustain the tradition. In the Civil war the soldiers of the North wore caps. Soft felt hats were chosen for soldiers operating against the Indians on the plains because they were supposed to afford greater protection than caps from the glare. They became a regulation head covering for the army in the Spanish-American war, and because they matched the khaki uniform, they have been in use ever since. Now, however, General Pershing is said to have decided that these hats must be discarded in favor of brimless and peakless caps, and the reason for the proposed change is characteristic of the period that has introduced into war so many innovations. The rim of the soft felt hat throws a shadow on the periscope used in the trenches so as to interfere with sighting by the wearer; also, when worn by full men, the crown may be seen above the parapets by the enemy; also, a gas mask can be adjusted much more quickly over a brimless and peakless cap.

WAR HELPED ZINC INDUSTRY

Remarkable Impetus Given to the Mining and Refining of the Mineral in Japan.

The high-water mark in the development of zinc mining and refining in Japan has been reached since the outbreak of the present war. Zinc was first mined in a commercial way in 1897, but even as late as 1911 the output was still only about 10,000 tons. The refining of the ores was not started on a large scale until 1914. The rising quotations of the metal in all markets gave the industry great impetus in Japan, so that in 1915 21,000 tons of refined goods and in 1916 45,000 tons were produced. It is estimated that the production in 1917 totaled some 65,000 tons. It is said that the refineries can produce as high as 100,000 tons a year, but as this takes some 250,000 tons of zinc ore the problem before Japan is to obtain 200,000 tons of ore in foreign markets, as only 50,000 tons are mined in Japan. In the past Japan has bought ore from China, Australia and Russia, the greater part of the ore, however, coming from Australia. It has been reported that Great Britain plans a refinery in Australia in order to produce zinc in that portion of her empire. If true, this, it is said, may force Japan to seek her raw material in some other market.

Bridge of Arta.

It was by the bridge at Arta that the Greeks on the west side entered Turkey. "The Bridge of Arta" one of the most pathetic of Greek folk songs, tells of the sacrifice of a human victim at the building of a bridge to appease its demon. In the version translated by Mr. J. C. Lawson sixty apprentices and forty-five craftsmen have toiled for three years at the bridge, and every night their day's work falls in ruin. Then the demon's voice bids them sacrifice the master craftsman's wife as she comes to supper. They induce her, with a false story of a ring to be fished up, to let herself be lowered, and her husband stands by a stone down upon her. She proclaims that the bridge may ever tremble and all who cross it fall as now she trembles and her tresses fall; but a reminder that her brother may some day cross it changes her prayer to one that bridge and passengers may be as iron-like as she now feels.

Not for Me, but of Me.

Moses Selig has been in business for a long time but never until recently had he received a purely business letter from a small granddaughter. The letter was sent by his granddaughter, Evelyn Hahn, who formerly lived in Indianapolis and was as follows: "Dearest Grandpa: This is a business note. I am selling Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps. Please buy of me, not for me, and help me to receive a position in the army of thrift workers. Send me a check if you will, payable to cash, and I will send you the stamps. You will oblige and help me very much. Much love, 'EVELYN'."

It is needless to say that Mr. Selig regarded this as one of the most important business notes he ever received.—Indianapolis News.

And the German Dropped.

An American aviator, forced to land within the German lines and taken prisoner, returned a few days after to American headquarters, safe and sound, in his own machine. The commanding German officer informed him they were after certain information and had decided to send him up in his own machine accompanied by a German officer, who would shoot him if he deviated from orders. He took his machine up, his German companion sitting beside him with a drawn revolver at his ribs. He said: "I determined that the German officer should never return, even if it cost me my own life. I was thinking how I could do it when I realized that the man beside me was not strapped in. I looped the loop."

Now Has Third Officer Husband.

To have lost two husbands and married a third during the war has been the experience of Lady Michael Wardell, one of London's recent brides. She is a daughter of Sir Daniel Cooper, an Australian millionaire. She married first the late Viscount Northland, who lost his life in active service in 1915; and left a will in which he expressed the hope that his widow would marry again. She fulfilled his hope when she was married to Capt. Geoffrey Mills. He was killed a year ago. Her third husband is also a British officer.

"For six years we have used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in our family and feel we could not possibly do without it, especially for the children." (From a letter to Dr. Caldwell written by Mrs. Earl Cowell, Cement City, Mich.)

Children become constipated as readily as do their elders, and the result is equally distressing. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is ideal for children because of its pleasant taste, positive, yet gentle, action, and its freedom from opiates and narcotic drugs.

American soldiers in France can receive but one Christmas package each this year and each package must weigh not more than three pounds, according to regulations announced by the war department. Boxes for men in the navy, however, may weigh twenty pounds.

The regulations governing Christmas packages for soldiers have just been completed after conferences between the war and postoffice departments and the American Red Cross.

"The men themselves will decide who is to send these parcels. They are now receiving Christmas parcel labels with instructions to mail these labels to the person in this country from whom they wish to receive the holiday box."

"No Christmas parcels will be accepted for shipment after Nov. 20. The cardboard boxes or cartons to be provided for these parcels are 3 inches by 4 inches by 9 inches in size. When packed, wrapped, and ready for mailing these boxes must not weigh more than three pounds."

The American Red Cross has agreed to provide these cardboard boxes and to supervise their distribution to relatives of the soldiers who present the proper Christmas parcel label credentials. The following is an outline of the procedure to be followed by persons planning to send one of these parcels abroad:

On receiving one of these Christmas parcel labels it should be presented at the nearest chapter, branch, or auxiliary headquarters of the Red Cross, where the holder will receive a carton. These labels are not expected to reach this country before Nov. 1, but by that time each Red Cross branch will have its allotment of boxes, based on the number of soldiers in service overseas from that community.

These boxes may be filled with any combination of prohibited articles, except those on the list barred by the postal officials. The articles prohibited are all intoxicating liquors, all inflammable material, including friction matches, and any composition likely to ignite or explode (cigarette lighters come under this classification), liquors and fragile articles, improperly packed. Under the regulations no note or message or written matter of any kind will be permitted to remain in the boxes.

When the package has been packed it should be taken, unwrapped and unsealed, together with the label and sufficient stamps, to the nearest collection center designated by the Red Cross. After the package has passed the inspection of the Red Cross representatives the Christmas label bearing the address of the man for whom it is intended is placed on it. The person sending the package, in the presence of the Red Cross worker, is required to affix stamps, sufficient to carry it to Hoboken, N. J.

Wide and Narrow Braid.

Braid trimmings from the narrowest sash to the widest of Hercules are used. One finds dresses covered with wide Hercules from the hem half-way to the waist and again on the blouse from the waist nearly to the under-arm point with a narrower width on the sleeves from the wrist to the elbow.

The Dolman Returns.
A new winter wrap of heavy black satin is made like the dolman, our grandmothers wore and has long monkey fur along the bottom, around the neck and where the sleeves would be if there were any. Of course dolmans do not have sleeves.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2/3 ounce of Pinex, then add 1/2 ounce of granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy anywhere for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "Pinex" or "Pinex" brand. Get the full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., 22 Wayne, Ind.

THROAT, CHEST AND LUNG TROUBLES

Mothers—Just Rub This Over Throat and Chest—Relieves by Inhalation and Absorption.

You simply apply a small quantity of Pinex over the throat, chest and back, covering with a warm flannel cloth. The body heat releases the ingredients that are inhaled in the form of vapors, while the penetrating oils and fats are quickly absorbed through the pores, healing and soothing the tired, aching throat and chest.

Catarrh Of the Stomach Is Dangerous

"Thousands Have It and Don't Know It," Says Physician. Frequently Mistaken for Indigestion—How to Recognize and Treat.

"Thousands of people suffer more or less constantly from a tormented tongue, bad breath, sour burning stomach, frequent vomiting, rumbling in stomach, bitter eructations, gas, wind and stomach acidity and call it indigestion when in reality their trouble is due to gastric catarrh of the stomach," writes a New York physician.

Catarrh of the stomach is dangerous because the mucous membrane lining of the stomach is thickened and a coating of phlegm covers the surface so that the digestive fluids cannot mix with the food and digest them. This condition soon breeds deadly disease in the fermented, unassimilated food. The blood is polluted and carries the infection throughout the body. Gastric ulcers are apt to form and frequently an ulcer is the first sign of a deadly cancer.

In catarrh of the stomach a good and safe treatment is to take before meals a teaspoonful of pure Blaud's Magnesia in half a glass of hot water as hot as you can comfortably drink it. The hot water washes the mucus from the stomach walls and draws the blood to the stomach while the Blaud's Magnesia is an excellent solvent for mucus and increases the efficiency of the hot water treatment. Moreover the Blaud's Magnesia will serve as a powerful but harmless antacid which will neutralize any excess hydrochloric acid that may be in your stomach and sweeten its food contents. Easy, natural digestion without distress of any kind should soon follow. Blaud's Magnesia is not a laxative, is harmless, pleasant and easy to take and can be obtained from any local druggist. Don't confuse Blaud's Magnesia with other forms of magnesia, milks, citrates, etc., but get it in the pure, bicarbonate form (powder or tablets), especially prepared for this purpose.—Adv.

The Best Cough Syrup Is Home-made
Here's an easy way to save $2, and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2/3 ounce of Pinex, then add 1/2 ounce of granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy anywhere for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "Pinex" or "Pinex" brand. Get the full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., 22 Wayne, Ind.

Work will be saved by keeping things in order as you go.

THROAT, CHEST AND LUNG TROUBLES

Mothers—Just Rub This Over Throat and Chest—Relieves by Inhalation and Absorption.

You simply apply a small quantity of Pinex over the throat, chest and back, covering with a warm flannel cloth. The body heat releases the ingredients that are inhaled in the form of vapors, while the penetrating oils and fats are quickly absorbed through the pores, healing and soothing the tired, aching throat and chest.

Tricks Learned on the Mat Will Beat Huns Says Champion Earl Caddock

Wrestler, Who Has Risen from Private to Lieutenant, Tells How Knowledge Gained in Army Camps Fit American Soldier to Help Win War—Every American Should Support United War Work Campaign for $170,500,000, He Declares.

By LIEUT. EARL CADDOCK
(World's Champion Wrestler.)

THE qualities that make a good wrestler are those that make a good soldier. Wrestling keeps your mind and your body active; makes you think fast and wisely. Like boxing, wrestling proves and develops a boy's gameness and gameness is what is besting the Hun. Expertness in boxing makes the soldier a better bayonet fighter; skill at wrestling will enable the man in khaki to ward off death when he comes to grips with the Boche.

Wrestling made a big hit with the boys at Camp Dodge, Des Moines, Iowa, where I was stationed for several months. With the aid of the Y. M. C. A., the K. of C., and the Jewish Welfare Board we were able to put on a number of good shows. These organizations realizing the benefit the boys would get from the sport, urged me to arrange shows every other night if I could, and we had some mighty interesting bouts. These agencies together with the Y. W. C. A., the War Camp Community Service, the American Library Association and the Salvation Army, which have gotten together in the United War Work Campaign to raise $170,500,000, deserve the support of every American.

To be a good wrestler you must use your head as well as your strength. There are many tricks in the game and I find that the soldier boy learns them quicker than the civilian. That is because his military exercises and drills have put him in good physical condition and such a man thinks quickly.

The way the ordinary soldier boy becomes interested in wrestling is by watching the others. After several weeks he tackles the game and it comes. Bouts between these boys are a real treat for the man who does the very first. No coward sticks to wrestling. I play the poor Hun who starts to mix it up with us at

EARL CADDOCK

Lieutenant Caddock was born at Anita, Iowa, thirty years ago. Several years ago he won the Y. M. C. A. wrestling championship for Anita and defeated the title against the best men obtainable. In the colors of the Chicago A. A., he competed in the Olympic championships at the Panama-Pacific Exposition and won the middleweight, light heavyweight and heavyweight titles. Two years ago he defeated Joe Stecher and then came fame and the sobriquet of the "corn fed lion." From that time until he enlisted he met and defeated the best of them.

close quarters. The struggle holds its own in the front. My early athletic training stood me in good stead in camp. Keeping the boys from messing you up while you are teaching them the tricks of the trade is no easy job. They are the struggle hold and whether all the rules in Jack Curley's code of ethics, but their greenness at the game and their ambition to prove they're there excites them, or it comes. Bouts between these boys are a real treat for the man who does the very first. No coward sticks to wrestling. I play the poor Hun who starts to mix it up with us at ly after the war was declared I tried to enlist, but was turned down because of tonsil trouble. A surgeon fixed me up and I became a private with the headquarters troops. In six months they made me a corporal, not long afterwards a sergeant, and I received my commission as a lieutenant a few days ago. If we had not gone to war with Germany I would have defended my title against all comers. I refused matches with Joe Stecher and Zbyszko because I felt it was my duty to serve Uncle Sam first. When I come back I will meet them all.

CATARRAH D'EAFFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have Catarrh of the nose or are even just a little hard of hearing or have head noises go to your druggist and get a bottle of Parafin (double strength) and use it. It is a little of hot water and a little of Parafin. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day. "The will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone losing hearing or who has Catarrh of the nose or head noises should give this prescription a trial."

TO RESUME SCHEDULE

The "Fin" Ban is Lifted Local Football Will Get Under Way Again.
Connellsville high school's football season may re-open on Saturday, November 16, if the ban on influenza is lifted sufficiently before that date. The football team has not been practicing during the time that the schools have been closed and it would take at least a week to get into shape again.
The game on November 16 would be with the Latrobe team. The contest is scheduled for Fayette Field. The following Saturday, November 23, the Scottsdale high school will be here. Much interest is centering about this game as Scottsdale is placing lots of confidence in its team, while the local boys are showing up even stronger than was expected. In the two games that were played before the ban went on Connellsville held Charleroi and Washington high school teams to a 0-0 score. The locals were scheduled to play Wilkesburg on Saturday morning of this week, but the game has been automatically cancelled on account of the ban.
The season will close as usual on Thanksgiving Day. The Duquesne University high will play here at that time.

Indigestion, Gas, Bloat, Heartburn, Caused by Acid-Stomach

What is the cause of indigestion, dyspepsia, bloat, heartburn, food-repeating, gassy, sour stomach, and all the stomach miseries that bring so much distress? Just this—acid-stomach—superacidity as the doctors call it. It robs millions of their full strength, vitality and the power to enjoy life—in both men and women.

Scientists have proved this but you do not need to take their word; you can prove it in your own stomach, by getting rid of the excess acid and finding out how much better you will feel. Let your own stomach be the judge. It will tell you the truth. Decide then according to your own feelings, if acid-stomach is not directly responsible for a long train of ailments that in time become so serious that they baffle the best medical skill.

It is well known that an acid mouth destroys the teeth. The acid mouth can be detected only by a chemical analysis, and still it is so powerful that it eats right through the hard enamel and causes the teeth to decay. This certainly is fair warning of what excess acidity will do to the delicate organization of the stomach; as a matter of fact, excess acidity not only produces at the start a great many painful and disagreeable symptoms that we generally name "stomach troubles," but it is the creator of a long train of very serious ailments. Acid stomach interferes with the digestion and causes the food to ferment, the stomach gets sour and creates gas, and then this mass of sour, fermented food, charged with excess acid, passes into the intestines, where it becomes the breeding place for all kinds of germs and toxic poisons, which in turn, are absorbed into the blood stream, and in this way distributed throughout the entire body.

Of course, these poisons naturally attack the weakest points and cause the most trouble where they find the least resistance. The bad effects of acid-stomach do not show up at once, but you can see the beginning wherever you go in so many people who, while not actually down sick, are always ailing—have no appetite, food doesn't digest, belching all the time, continually complaining of being weak and tired and worn out. It is this acid poison in the system that takes the Pep and Punch out of them, makes life a hardship, leaving little or no vitality to enjoy the real pleasures of life.

The simple thing, the humanly sensible thing, is to strike right at the very cause of all this trouble and clean this excess acid out of the stomach. This will give the stomach a chance to digest the food properly; that is all you need; nature will do the rest.

There is a quick, easy way to bring this about—a wonderful new discovery makes it possible to remove excess acid without the slightest discomfort. It is called EATONIC, made in the form of tablets—they are good to eat—just like a bit of candy. Their action in the stomach is a good deal like a piece of blotting paper taking up a drop of ink—they literally absorb the injurious excess acid and carry it away through the intestines. They also drive the bloat out of the body—in fact you can fairly feel them work.

Try EATONIC and see how quickly it banishes the immediate effects of acid-stomach—bloat, heartburn, belching, food-repeating, indigestion, etc. See too, how quickly your general health improves—how much more relish you take in eating—how much more easily your food is digested—how soundly you sleep—how nervousness and irritability disappear.

It is so easy to get this help—and it costs so little. So why suffer another hour when sure relief is at hand? Everywhere people who have used EATONIC testify to its power to bring quick relief. The testimonials of some of these people are so enthusiastic and tell of such remarkable results as to be almost unbelievable.

If you are one of those who have "tried everything," but in spite of it are still lacking in physical strength and vigor, begin at once to take EATONIC. Don't put it off. Get back your physical and mental punch. Have the power and energy to work with vim. Enjoy the good things of life. Learn what it means to fairly bubble over with health. Like thousands of others, you will say that you never dreamed it possible that such a wonderful change for the better could be brought about so quickly.

So get a big box of EATONIC from your druggist today. We authorize him to guarantee EATONIC to please you and you can trust your druggist to make this guarantee good. If it fails in any way, take it back—he will refund your money. If your druggist does not keep EATONIC write to us and we will send you a big 50c box. You can send us the 50c after you receive it. Address H. L. Kramer, President, Eatonie Remedy Company, Cor. Wabash Ave. and 11th St., Chicago, Ill.

THE SORE THROAT OF SPANISH INFLUENZA

One of the frequent complications of Spanish influenza is sore throat. It is important the sore throat be given prompt attention and relieved.
The throat is the gateway to the body. The air we breathe, the food we eat and the water we drink all pass through it. It is the great breeding ground for germs and this is especially true when it is sore or inflamed. If it is kept clean, disease germs have small chance to propagate and do their deadly work.

Authorities agree Spanish influenza is a germ disease and that preventive measures should be taken. They advise the use of an effective gargle to keep the throat clean and healthy. For this purpose, Tonsiline, The National Sore Throat Remedy, is ideal. It is also used as a spray and taken pure.

The wonderful increase in the sale of Tonsiline during the last few weeks shows that many thousands of families are making extra use of Tonsiline during this epidemic to quickly relieve the often accompanying sore throat and as a preventative measure.

Don't wait until you have influenza and sore throats in the house, but get your bottle of Tonsiline from your druggist now for use as a preventative gargle and also to be ready to relieve sore throat upon its first appearance. For more than 25 years the sale of Tonsiline has steadily and rapidly increased. The favor shown it by American people gives it the right to the title, The National Sore Throat Remedy.

MADE YOUTH A SAILOR

GREAT MAN REMEMBERED HIS PROMISE TO BOY.

Had "Fought for Jackson," and the President Redeemed Partial Promise That He Had Made Some Years Before.

The subject of Mr. Stephen Benson's stirring biography, "Edward Fitzgerald Beale," was the son of Congressman George Beale, who served with distinction under Macdonough at Lake Champlain, and of Emily, the daughter of Commodore Truxton of the famous Constellation. Young Beale, as a member of two naval families, therefore, had what was regarded in the old navy as a prescriptive right to enter the service.

With the advent of President Jackson, all such rights were brushed aside, and the claims of young Beale might have been overlooked except for a fortunate and characteristic incident.

The boys of Washington, where the Beales spent their winters, were ardent politicians, like their fathers, and they were divided by allegiance to antagonistic statesmen. The disputes between the Adams partisans and the Jacksonians grew so bitter that the boys decided to settle all their political differences once for all by the ancient test of battle.

Ned Beale was the Jacksonian champion, and the Adamsites were represented by a boy named Evans, who afterward became a distinguished citizen of Indiana. The battle was appointed to take place under a long arch, which at that time marked the southern entrance to the White House grounds.

While the battle raged and the enthusiastic spectators applauded, a tall figure suddenly appeared, scattered the boys, and seizing Beale by the collar, asked him why he was fighting. He replied that he was fighting for General Jackson, and that his opponent had expressed a poor opinion of the president's politics and personality.

"I am General Jackson," said the man. "I never forget the men or boys who are willing to fight for me, but I do not wish them to do it all the time. Now put on your coats."

A few years later, when Beale reached his fourteenth year, his desire to enter the navy became overwhelming. One afternoon he called at the White House with his mother to see General Jackson and ask for a midshipman's warrant.

Mrs. Beale told her story, and spoke of the fact that her boy was the son and grandson of men who had served their country and been wounded in battle. Jackson listened with courtesy, but seemed uncertain how he should act. Suddenly the boy interrupted his mother.

"Mother, he said, 'let me speak to General Jackson.'"

He then reminded the president of the fight and the promise he had made, at least by implication, to serve him whenever the opportunity presented.

Without a word, General Jackson tore off the back of a letter lying near him, and wrote to the secretary of the navy, "Give this boy an immediate warrant," and handed it to Mrs. Beale.

Treasure Hunt to Get At.

News that a treasure attempt is to be made to recover sunken treasures from the ship General Grant recalls the story of that ill-fated vessel. She sailed for London from Melbourne in 1866 and was wrecked off the Auckland Islands. For two years her disappearance remained a mystery. Then chance led to the rescue of a few survivors, who told how the vessel had been dashed against a cliff 400 feet high and in sinking had been swept into a cave at its base. There for close on half a century the wreck has lain in fourteen fathoms of water, with treasure to the value of $1,250,000 in the bottom room to tempt the treasure hunter. The estimate may be an exaggeration, but the report has already attracted five well-equipped expeditions. The swirl of the tide and the deadly backwash within the cave have so far defied the efforts of the most skillful and daring divers to reach the treasure. It remains to be seen whether the sixth attempt will share the failure of its predecessors.

Many Feeble-Minded.

A complete census of the feeble-minded in the United States has never been taken, but it is estimated that there is one feeble-minded person to every 250 of the population, or approximately 400,000 in all, according to the secretary of one of the New York mental hygiene organizations. About 12,000 men have been rejected from the new national army on account of nervous and mental disorders; and one-third of these were rejected on account of feeble-mindedness.

FIREARMS ARE NOT FRAGILE

Shotgun Properly Cared For Is Said to Be Good for a Hundred Thousand Shots.

A question frequently asked is, "How long will my shotgun last?" or "How many shots can I fire from my rifle or revolver before it wears out?"

It is impossible for anyone to say just how long a firearm will last, because it is impossible to tell before-hand what kind of care it is going to get, and the care it receives makes all the difference between a few hundred shots and a lifetime of faithful service.

Assuming that they are cleaned carefully and consistently a good shotgun will show practically no falling off in pattern or penetration for probably well over 100,000 shots. A 2-caliber rifle and a revolver are both good for 30,000 or 40,000 shots. A high-power rifle is good for about 3,000 to 5,000 shots, usually the higher the velocity the shorter the life of the barrel.

Judging from these facts it would appear that the higher the pressure developed by the explosion the more wear on the barrel, for the shotgun develops the least pressure and the high-power rifle the most.

A rather interesting sidelight on this question of barrel life is a determination of the actual length of time to which a good shotgun barrel is subjected to the force and burning effect of the powder charge during its lifetime. If 100,000 shots are fired from a shotgun the inside of the barrel is actually exposed to the flame of the powder charge for about four minutes.

AMOUNT OF FOOD NEEDED

Committee of Experts Has Decided Just What Must Be Supplied to the Average Man.

As a basis for calculating the amount of food which must be provided for the human system the international scientific food commission has found that an average man of 154 pounds working eight hours a day requires food having an energy value of 3,300 calories.

The commission consists of representatives of the United States, France, Italy, Belgium and Great Britain, and its purpose is to consider the food problem of the allies from a scientific point of view, and in agreement with the international executives to make proposals to the allied governments.

The commission agreed that, in event it should become impossible to supply 3,300 calories of food, a reduction of 70 per cent could be suffered for some time without injury to health. The minimum ration of fat for the "average man" was determined upon as two and five-eighths ounces a day.

The commission recommended that a uniform average milling extraction of 85 per cent for wheat be adopted throughout the allied countries, but this extraction may vary from 80 per cent in summer to 90 per cent in winter.

The commission held sessions in London, Paris and Rome.

Imaginary Insomnia.

Brand Whitlock, who is writing stories and books when he is not maying and reforming, hates, with all the vindictiveness that is in his heart, clouds that strike the hour and throw out on the silvery air of night their bell-like chiming.

One evening he went to Columbus tower, which was some lower when it came to climbing. Brand got into bed, and after tossing restlessly about for a long time, heard the big clock strike "one." After what seemed an interminable hour, during which his brain was teeming with ideas for uplifting the human race and taking money away from publishers, the bell rang twice.

"Two o'clock!" groaned Whitlock. "I'll never get to sleep."

"Insomnia!" wailed Brand. "I'm going mad!"

He sprang out of bed, turned on the light and looked at his watch. It was a quarter to one in the morning, and his agile brain had changed the quarter chiming into hour bells.

WEAK KIDNEYS

MAY CAUSE MANY DISEASES

"CAN I BE CURED?"

How often have you heard that sad cry from the victims of disease. Perhaps, the disorder, has gone too far for help, but often it is just in its first stages and the pains and aches are only nature's first cries for help. Do not despair. Find out the cause and give nature all the help you can and she will repay you with health. Look after the kidneys. The kidneys are the most overworked organs of the human body. And when they fail in their work of filtering and throwing off the poison that constantly accumulates in the system, everything goes wrong.

POOR ELIMINATION OF URIC ACID MAY BE CAUSE OF

stomach trouble, indigestion and dyspepsia come about through the weakening of the nerves of the stomach. A feeling of fullness after eating, collection of gas in the stomach and bowels, heartburn, and often vomiting will result.

Rheumatism may occur through forming of uric acid crystals in the muscles and joints. It takes the form of muscular or joint rheumatism and the parts swell with intense redness and fever and terrible pain follows the slightest movement.

Neuralgia is a sharp, commonly given to a severe pain in any nerve. This occurs in uric acid diseases from the formation of uric acid crystals on the lining of the nerves.

Gravel and stone in the kidney are caused by the formation of hard particles, usually uric acid, in the kidneys. The stone acts as a layer after layer until it gets so large that often only a surgical operation can remove it. Nervousness, depression, irritability, sleeplessness, strange dreams and queer thoughts are often the result of uric acid on the nerves.

Epidemic Record of 1917.

Disease scourges took a great toll in the orient during 1917. Cholera prevailed in southern Asia from Assam to the Philippines, striking down 55,000 in the Indian region; there were 8,870 cases in the Philippines and many deaths in Burma. Bubonic plague belted the tropical world from Peru to Hawaii and New Caledonia. In British India the largest mortality took place; there were 660,000 cases, with 380,000 deaths. The disease area extended as far north as Egypt and Senegal. Yellow fever appeared in Africa, Mexico and South America. The deaths were not above several hundred.

The appeal was accompanied by a statement from Dr. Royer saying that he agents here successfully closed all the open saloons yesterday when they appeared to take evidence of violations of the closing order and that these agents will proceed today to institute criminal proceedings against the managers of motion picture theaters and others who remained open in defiance of the ban.

"Citizens of Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania
"As surgeon general of the National Public Health Service, I appeal to every good citizen of Pittsburgh and vicinity to stand faithfully by the order imposing restrictions upon moving picture establishments, theaters, public meetings and the sale of alcoholic beverages until the epidemic conditions are much better than at present and until advised by the State Department of Health of Pennsylvania and representatives of the Federal Public Health Service and the metropolitan district about it, it is imperative to protect the lives and health and man power of this district. VOLUNTEER PASTORS WHO HAVE ABUSED PRIVILEGES BARRED FROM CAMPS

Many Found to Have Been Pro-German Sympathizers; Services Now Conducted by Loyal Chaplains

When our citizen soldiers were first gathered into camps and cantonments in this country there were of course, not enough army chaplains to provide the new troops with church services and religious instruction. Camp commanders were therefore authorized by the War Department to accept in their discretion the services of ministers who volunteered to visit the men in the camps and preach to them. At the same time all the churches of every religion and almost every sect, united to cooperate with the army authorities in training and selecting their best preachers and pastors ministers and clergymen and religious leaders to wear army chaplains' uniforms and give their services to the soldiers here and abroad.

Now it has developed that some of the volunteer camp pastors have taken advantage of the situation in ways that must be checked. They have been guilty of proselyting of circulating insidious propaganda and of expressing indiscreet sympathy with disloyal and dissatisfied enlisted men. The War Department has accordingly decided that within three months after July 24, 1918 the services of camp pastors shall be limited to the properly accredited camp chaplains who wear the army uniform and whose loyalty and responsibility are known and guaranteed.

The order barring unauthorized religious workers from the camps has brought a protest from a small section of the sectarian press although that order was first submitted to the Committee of Six who advise the Secretary of War upon religious matters, and also to the Commission on Training Camp Activities and approved by both. The objectors declare that the order strikes at the root of religious liberty. With a rare misunderstanding of the situation they complain that the government is trying to prescribe what soldiers should hear and what they should believe. And they are being encouraged by those pro-German sympathizers who have been so busily stirring up religious differences and sectarian strife in this country in order to impair our national unity and set us fighting each other instead of fighting Germany.

The order is plainly an exercise of necessary military authority of the simplest sort. It is directed against no religion any more than the order that only military medical officers shall practice in camp is directed against any school of medicine. It strikes at religious liberty no more than the proscription of unauthorized orators in camp strikes at liberty of thought. It is necessary for the maintenance of military discipline for the protection of the camps against German agents and German propaganda, and for the military control of military areas. The only persons who could reasonably object to it would be the disloyal and dissatisfied who find themselves shut out from an opportunity to indulge in disloyalty and encourage dissension where these would be most dangerous to a successful national defense.

Sikhs Most Militant People.
The city of Amritsar British India is the religious center of the Sikh faith, and as such it enjoys a high degree of interest and distinction. The Sikhs are known all over the British empire as the best of the native Indian fighting men. They have done loyal service on every battlefield where England has called on her native troops, and they are immensely proud of their record and their fighting ability. They are perhaps the most militant creed and people in the world.
